

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their personally owned stations to air a Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of our government at work.

Sinclair pays and owns his for the right to use the public airwaves. Every American has the same right. Who is to decide what is to serve the public interest? I believe this is a service that I couldn't get from any other media. This is very similar to the Dan Rather report where something is produced at "News Central" far away, rather than what we see real people from our own communities and more substantive news about issues that matter.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to continue to provide fair rulings and not cater to the few.
Thank you.
